It's been one of those nights, when the jukebox shuts down
I've done everything there is to do in this town
Thank god the traffic is loud 'cause I'm in no condition to put up a fight
You know, baby, I need you and how
I should know better
I should know better
I should know better by now

It's been one of those days, when there's no coming
down
I spend my last dime
?Press well? through and no-one's around Well, I toss and turn, my baby, with visions of you and?
a feeling? in my Head
And oh, baby I need you and how
I should know better
I should know better
I should know better by now

I still think I see you, with open arms to receive me
I can't understand it at all
With, my memory deceives me but you know that it's true
Well, I so often try
Another man, declaring nothing to hide
It's the oldest trick in the book
C'mon darling, will you please take a look?
And oh, baby I need you right now
I should know better (I should know better)
I should know better (I should know better)
I should know (Know) better by now

I should know, I should know better
I should, I should know better
I should know better by now
