I'm addicted to the playing, everybody knows I am
And you know that's true, and you know that's true She's protected in my shade, dreams of promises I made
Sharing all of her world, sharing all of my world
Face the music over lies, everyday until I die
And you know that I will, and you know that I will
If I could walk away from her, I would run away with you
You're the only girl I found that I could ever say this to
If I could walk away from her, I would run away with you
And I do, every night in my dreams I do

We met; your face was like a magnet
We kissed, I couldn't take the heat
I lay in wait for my conscience to sleep
If I could walk away from her, I would run away with you
You're the only girl I found that I could ever say this to
If I could walk away from her, I would run away with you
And I do, every night in my dreams
I walk away from her and I run away with you
You're the only girl I found that I could ever say this to
If I could walk away from her, I would run away with you
And I do, every night in my dreams I do
