When your life is??? an all haze???, that you never get through
Do you long for the days when you knew what to do?
When your mind is in deep freeze but your heart is on track
When you see what you want, do you ever look back?
Just put your thoughts away, so never mind how it seems
'Cause everybody's afraid, everybody has times when life splits at the seams
And I've been trying hard to face what I've become
So I can live and breathe the love inside these arms
(Time to open silently,?? for you???)
??? Whispered fingers though???, to live inside these arms)
When it finally comes, when your eyes overflow
What you feel in the night, everybody should know
When your tongue is untied and your bags are surreal
And you know you can't hide everything that you feel
Just put your thoughts away, never mind how it seems
'Cause everybody's afraid, everybody has times when life splits at the seams
It's not the way that you think, it's not the things that you do
'Cause here's nobody around who can live his own life any better than you
And I've been trying hard to face what I've become
So I can live and breathe the love inside these arms
When I'm holding you there's one thing you never do
You never go away, don't you see why I keep holding on?
'Cause I've been trying hard to face what I've become
So I can live and breathe the love inside these arms
(I've been trying hard to face what I've become)
So I can live and love and die inside these arms
