There's a restless wind that blows outside my front door
It's the same every season of the year
It's a call of the wild of the adventures child in my heart
There's a faithful friend who sits besides me tonight
She's the first to arrive, the last to leave She's a blessing, a curse
She's for better or worse in my heart
If I could have my way, I would let all the???
peaches??? feel the sun
To be young and carefree, nothing worrying me Got no place I should be, just me and the deep blue sea

Late at night when I'm laying in my bed all alone
I can hear your voice whisper in my ear Than I know I should stay in the??? lea??? of your love one more day
Save from that restless wind
Or I move into your house some day, my restless wind
