No one could love me the way that you love me but is it a matter of time But each time you hold me the way that you hold me time never crosses my mind We all took chances sometimes too many so I'll take some chances myself Cause you're an expert at everything I never thought of
And real good at everything else
You give me kisses for no speacial reason no special reason's enough
You never wait till the party's all over to show me I'm the one you love You never do me the way that they did me Cause look what you've done with what was left You're an expert at everything I never thought of

And real good at everything else
You give me kisses for no speacial reason...
