I know I shouldn't love you
From the way we said goodbye
And I know that there are others
With tears for you still in their eyes
But if I thought that you were lonely
I wouldn't waste any time
I'd be the first fool in line

Funny thing about a memory
When it comes to love
It forgets about the bad times
And remembers what it wants
So if ever you are looking
For a heart whose love is blind
I'll be the first fool in line

I'll fall back into your arms again
Just as fast as the fool I was back then
I know I should know better
I know the hurt I'll find
But I'll be the first fool in line

I'll fall back into your arms again
Just as fast as the fool I was back then
So if ever you are looking
For a heart whose love is blind
I'll be the first fool in line
I'll be the first fool in line
