You can write your own ticket now
I'll get by without you somehow
Don't you worry 'bout what I'll do
I'll be fine without you

You say you think the change will do you good
If you feel that way, well, I guess it would
I can live my life without you
I've got places to go and things to do

But I'll never be in love again
My poor old heart will never mend
Oh, I'll find someone to hold now and then
But I'll never be in love again

Something went wrong along the way
And there's nothing I can do to make you stay
Well, I never tried to put holds on you
That's the last thing I'd ever want to do

So you go your way, I'll go mine
And if our paths should cross somewhere down the line
I'll just say hello and shake your hand
But if tears come to my eyes, please understand

But I'll never be in love again
My poor old heart will never mend
Oh, I'll find someone to hold now and then
But I'll never be in love again
