You call me up at five to five, and you ask me if I'll drop by
That you need me, tonight you're all alone
Like the fool I am and the fool I'll be, I drove there anxiously
But when I got there, you were not alone

When will I ever learn that you'll never care about me?
You only build me up to bring me down again
When will I ever learn that you'll use me and abuse me?
Oh tell me, when will I ever learn?

When will I learn? When will I get wise? You never apologize
I swear that this time I'm through with you Like the fool I am, and the fool I'll be the next time you need me
Once again I'll give in to you

When will I ever learn that you'll never care about me?
You only build me up to bring me down again
When will I ever learn that you'll use me and abuse me?
Oh tell me, when will I ever learn?
