as i awake,
i wake into the brightest of reality sun, i chased it back,
the morning brings goodbye and it was already gone...

twas black and white,
a feast and then the dance was something beautiful, under the lights,
the morning brings the pain of what's impossible... i dreamt you married me, i kissed you and began our own eternity,
i dreamt you married me,
yeah and then i woke up in reality, and it was just a dream, i know that forever is too much to ask, it was the best dream i've ever had,
and i will leave it at that...
