Somewhere over lines I see, there's a place where I won't get lonely, and there's still a million miles, a million eyes who wait there for me.

I'm trying to get lost but i'll tell you where to find me, distance is a friend of mine I will come to know, i've got a picture of my heart on the dash to remind me I can't stay here,
I have to go,

and I think i'm going to drown in the coma time spent here, laying on the line of a life and a dream, i've got to be ready for the cost when it calls me, it lies a long long way from here.

This is the life that keeps stringing my hopes away, tell me how lucky I am,
these are the eyes that put
all of their faith in me, and tell me how lovely I am,
and i find my way back to the dreams that I live for they take so long, I wish I was out there, and this is the end of a beautiful night with them.

I 'm trying to be found but it's this I can't find it, say it one more time and i'm sure to disapear, i've got a picture of my heart on the dash to remind me I have to go, I can't stay here, and I think i'm going to drown in the coma time spent here, laying on the line of a life and a cause,

i've got to be ready for the cost when it calls me, it says I can't stay here tonight

tell me how lucky I am,
and tell me how lovely I am,
beautiful night with them.
