Planned outtings to the moon
How come they end so soon, I'll never know
But I'll pray and wish and hope that some day

You're finally in the mood
To jump through walls, And kick and scream and run and shout
Swallowed in your deep self-doubt and I...

Strickened clever metaphors slammed inside the kitchen door
And I wonder why I let you go girl Strickened clever metaphors slammed inside the
kitchen door
Tell me why I left you waiting

Say one last try, to end the rest
To get what you think you deserve
I'll try and forget what you just told me

You say that you're, you're the queen
And nothing else is valid at this point
The train leaves here in half an hour
