Another day, another hundred miles
In an empty house again tonight
I know where I've been but I don't know where I'm bound
I'll try not to think of you & the love I thought we'd found.

Another season, has passed me by
If I find love again, I'm hanging on for life
So I'll think of you & go on with my day
The tears will come & go, just like the rain.

Chorus: We fell in love just like so many times before Then you changed your mind again & walked right out the door
You promised me forever as we sat beneath the stars
Then you had a change of heart
Then you had a change of heart.

Chorus 2: We fell in love just like so many times before Then you changed your mind & I'm not welcome anymore
You promised me forever and you held me in the dark
You just had a change of heart
You just had a change of heart...
