

Donna Lewis

"Lay Me Down"

Visit "Lay Me Down" on MotoLyrics.com

In this dark corner there is light
Understanding what lies beyond is not to be afraid
But to look forward to another life
Full of light and color, happy at last

Nothing left to hide away
Nothing left to shield me
Fallen words on ocean clay
No shout will ever reach me

Nothing but the vacant eyes
Rising up above me
Body torn, spirit whole
No knife can ever reach me

Lay me down, cover me now
While the nightingales sleep under my feet
Lay me down, cover me now
While the white water flows over me

Run across the hidden joy
Deliver me from evil
Rushing words in silent zones
Here are my people

I am the child born again
Where beauty stands and waits
I am the child who loves and plays
I am the angel who waits

Lay me down, cover me now
While the nightingales sleep under my feet
Lay me down, cover me now
While the white water flows over me

And I will lie here with my unfinished words
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Down, cover me now
While the nightingales sleep under my feet
Lay me down, cover me now

While the white water flows over me

Lay me down, cover me now
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Lay me down, cover me now
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Lay me down, cover me now
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Lay me down to rest
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Lay me down to rest
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Lay me down to rest
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Lay me down to rest
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Lay me down to rest
Lay me down to rest
Lay me where the nightingales sleep

Visit Donna Lewis page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.