dont talk to me

today is not the best day to get into my way
tomorrow wont change
that situation anyway
to really talk to me
is taking so much more todays just like
the day before

i know its hard
to get the point
when you dont listen
i know you wouldnt
understand what i am missing and what you havent got is what you cant provide it doesnt matter how hard you try

dont talk to me

i know youve got your own life so why do you borrow moments out of mine go ahead and spoil your fragile life but please dont waste my precious time

yeah
youve got some nerve to call our relationship a wave - length when i dont even wanna talk to you my silence should have taught you the lessons you cant learn i tell you once again
we are through
