A second skin, a new agenda
A brand new beat for the same old heart
You live a life you can't remember
Tell me do you still know who you are?

Why don't you mean the words you say?
Even if only for a day
I don't know who you are
Why don't you stay the same today?
Even if only for a change
I don't know who you are

Another skin, a new agenda
A brand new beat for the same old broken heart
Every letter written marked "Return to sender"
You can never run from who you are

Why don't you mean the words you say?
Even if only for a day
I don't know who you are
Why don't you stay the same today?
Even if only for a change
I don't know who you are

A brand new beat for the same old heart
Tell me, do you still know who you are?
A brand new beat for the same old heart
Tell me, do you still know who you are?
Tell me, do you still know who you are?

The walls you build, they don't protect you
They keep you locked inside forever

Why don't you mean the words today?
Why don't you mean the words you say?
Even if only for a day
I don't know who you are
Why don't you stay the same today?
Why don't you back up what you say?
I don't know who you are

A brand new beat for the same old heart

Tell me, do you still know who you are?
A brand new beat for the same old heart
Tell me, do you still know who you are?
A brand new beat for the same old heart
Tell me, do you still know who you are?
A brand new beat for the same old heart
Tell me, do you still know who you are?
