We're falling down and suffering
We're at a loss and slowly sinking
We're going down, were going down
Destruction moves and surrounds its closing in
Are you listening? Please just listen
I'm not quite sure are we in over our heads?
The water's turning red
All lost saviors
The world is burning in your hands
All lost Saviors
The world is burning in your hands
I am not proud of falling short
Whats in store? Am I destined for anything? Anymore?
Dear friend, I'm calling out your name whats it take are you listening?
Are you breaking?
Cause I'm not breaking
I'm not quite sure are we in over our heads?
The water's turning red
The world is burning in your hands
All lost Saviors
The world is burning in your hands
This dissillusioned night will always haunt me
With the thought that I brought it
You left me with a leading sense of longing,
Ends up in demands
But i wont back down
All lost Saviors the world is burning your hands
All lost saviors the world is burning in your hands
In your hands
