You can wave your signs in protest against America
takin' stands.

The stands America's takin' are the reason that you can.

If everyone would go for peace, there'd be no need for war,

But we can't ignore the devil; he'll keep comin' back for more.

Some see this in black and white; others only grey.

We're not beggin' for a fight, no matter what they say.

We have a resolution that should put 'em all to shame.

It's a...a different kind of deadline when I'm called in the game.

I rock, I rack 'em up an' I roll.

I'm back, an' I'm a high-tech GI Joe.

I pray for peace, prepare for war,

And I never will forgive.

There's no price too high for freedom,

So be careful where you tread.

Now this terror isn't man to man; they can be no more than cowards.

They won't show us their weapons: we might have to show them ours.

Now it might be a smart-bomb; they find stupid people too.

If you stand with the likes of Saddam, one just might find you.

I rock, I rack 'em up an' I roll.

I'm back, an' I'm a high-tech GI Joe.

I got infra-red, I got GPS,

I got that good old-fashioned lead.

There's no price too high for freedom,

So be careful where you tread.

Now, you can come along, or you can stay behind,

An' you can get out of the way.

But our troops take out the garbage,

For the good ol' U.S.A.

I rock, I rack 'em up an' I roll. (In the U.S.A.)
