7 minutes through midnight your eyes let me know
Black and white through your window it's time to let go Don't let go, will we ever make it through tonight?
Don't let go, will we ever make it through our lives?
Hold on, refrain from this despair - Don't let the spotlight turn to you Hold on, for quenched repair - And let the whole world turn against you
Hang your hope on tomorrow for sunset or dawn
Save yourself of a new day these memories lie torn Kiss me now, make this alright
