I'm writing this down to let you know that everything is not alright in here Does it worry you to know that I am feeling this way When september comes would you make it home without me here?
Or would 7 days seem long?

Red flashing lights telling me that everything is not alright in here
Your head is in your hands, you lose control to shape and mould another wasted year
The air is breaking, the mood is changing, this winter is cold
It's time for faking, start pretending now
The air is breaking, the mood is changing, this winter is
cold
Is this all that I ever meant to you?

I'm sinking in, I'm losing myself and your to blame for this I'm sinking in, I'm losing myself and your blame

Fortune fades with one last kiss, is that all I ever meant to you?
Never changing, refuse to bend, they say that it's easier not to A broken heart has more to share, is that why you left me in pieces?

Maybe a lifetime is not such a long time
The question, the answer, the start of a sentence
