Everything is changing for once
It's not my heart that breaking for once
Brace yourself for one last fall
Make sure you stay in control of this Use your head and not your heart and you will get through
Stare into the Sun, but don't lose focus
If you look away everything might change
The space between the lines, so hopeless in disguise -
Your fear is your own
Take this because it's yours to hold
You won't see the mess I'm in because it won't be there when you open your eyes
Is this what you wished for?
Everything is changing for once
It's someone else's heart that's breaking for once
Save yourself, admit your wrong
Step back now before you start again
Hold your breath, make a wish and you will get through Mirrors hide our feelings, reflections of the way we were
You made this world so keep believing that you will Not be left alone
