The end of most mystery is always the same.
Only a moralist seems to be in the world.
A criminal is surely caught.
They fails in the mistake.
It's inevitable even if you aren't satisfied.

You sat on the chair and told me.
"I don't think I do such a foolish mistake."
I told you in my heart "your trick is used to no one"
Please tell me if the time comes.
I take on a perfect crime instead of you.
I will win even against the moralist.

Listen to my story without turning on the television.
I'll tell you the my story which I read yesterday night.

And tell the same words after your wide reasoning to
me.
So I will win even against the moralist.

I never saw through your trick.
It wasn't written by the moralist.
Where do you plot someone for the perfect crime now.
I became living dead because you killed me.
I have some story that you had heard yet.

I've been reading story without you when you leave here.
I wanna tell you the story which I read yesterday night.
And tell the same words after your wide reasoning to
me.
I have some story that you had heard yet.
