Nothing that I do, it seems, is ever enough
And I've been working overtime
Spending half my life trying to figure you out
When maybe it's a long good bye
Tell me while my heart beats steady
Don't you think you're ready
To tell me what I wanted to know?
What makes you smile?
What makes you smile?
I remember back before you figured me out
Everything was cut and dry
Nowadays, it seems your life is spitting you out
And you no longer want to try
Tell me while my heart beats steady;
On and on and on
I was waiting for you
On and on and on
I was waiting for you
On and on and on
I was waiting for you
To smile
What makes you smile?
What makes you smile?
On and on and on;
