(Red Lane - Dottie West)

I was born a country girl, I will die a country girl
My world is made of blue sky and sunshine
Greenfields and butterfilies
I'm so glad I'm a country girl.

Birds sing good morning country girl
And I sleep to the sounds of the whippoorwills
My day is made with puppies and kittens, meadows and daisies
I'm so glad I'm a country girl.

Running over hills playing in the woods
Free breezes blowing
Honey bees warming, blackbirds a flying
Wonder where they're going?

Picking stick-me-tights off my gingom dress
Darkness is falling
Fire wood to carry, eggs to gather
Supper's ready mama's calling.

I was born a country girl and I will die a country girl
My world is made of blue sky and sunshine
Greenfields and butterfilies
I'm so glad I'm a country girl.

Oh, I'm so happy I'm a country girl. hmm...
