The grass on the lawn is almost knee high Cause I can't start the mower I've tried and I've tried
The electric is off in just half of the house
And I can't figure out what's wrong
Everything's a wreck since you've gone.

The sink in the kitchen is all stopped up to
And since you've always fixed it I don't know what to do
My favorite past time lately is watching edge of night
And now the TV won't come on
Everything's a wreck since you've gone.

Everyday something else just falls apart
But how can I keep them going without the knowhow or the art
I thought I'd change the color of the room I shared with you
And don't you know the ladder broke now even the floor is blue.

Our poor old little parakeet doesn't sing anymore
Like me he's lonely all day long
Everything's a wreck since you've gone...
