Accidentally in your arms and that's all it took Knowing how you want and need me from just one look
To leave you now is something you should know that I can't do
I stayed long enough to fall in love with you

Long enough to know that what I feel won't go away
And just lookin' won't be near enough after today
Everything I need is everything I see in you
I stayed long enough to fall in love with you

Yes, everything I need is everything I see in you
I stayed long enough to fall in love with you
Stayed just long enough to fall in love with you
