(Kris Kristofferson)

I come from just the other side of nowhere to this big time lonesome town
They got a lot of ice and snow here half as cold as all the people I found Every way I tried to go here seems to bring me down I've seen about enough to know where I belong.

I've got a mind to see the headlight Shinin' on that old white line between my heart and home
Sick of spending Sundays wishing they were Mondays
sittin' in a park alone
So give my best to anyone who's left who ever done me any lovin' way but wrong Tell 'em that the pride of just the other side of nowhere's going home.

Taking nothing but to show there for these dues that I've paid
But the soul I almost sold here and the body I've been given away Fadin' from the neon night time glow here headin' for the light of day
Just the other side of nowhere's going home.

I've got a mind to see the headlight Shinin' on that old white line between my heart and
home
Sick of spending Sundays wishing they were Mondays
sittin' in a park alone
So give my best to anyone who's left who ever done me
any lovin' way but wrong
Tell 'em that the pride of just the other side of
nowhere's going home.

Tell 'em that the pride of just the other side of
nowhere's going home...
