(Rafe VanHoy - Steve Pippin)

Why don't we lay back lover and hold on to each other
And let love take over from here.

We've done the best we could to keep love burning
There's not a thing we haven't tried
But just like children we're still learning
The ways to keep our love alive.

We've spent too many days searching for some magic way
And overlooked the thing that was so near
So come on lay back lover and hold on to each other
And let love take over from here.

It's time we realized that love is easy
It's not that hard to understand
If we want love with rhyme and reason
We've got to do it hand in hand.

There's no sense wasting time tryin' to plan love line by line
When all we've ever needed is right here
If we just lay back lover and hold on to each other
And let love take over from here.

Well, you know love was always standing by and looking us right in the eye
Oh, can't you hear it whispering in your ear
For us to lay back lover and hold on to each other
And let love take over from here.

So come on lay back lover and hold on to each other
And let love take over from here...
