Lonely is a rainy day when home is something far away And someone special on your mind, you'd sure love to see

Lonely is a call to home when no one's there to catch the phone

And night time seems to have no dawn and you don't have a friend

Lonely is a feeling that strips your conscience bare A state of mind you can't explain but still you know it's there

Lonely is a city street that's lost the sound of shuffling feet

And empty thing that touches you and makes you wanna cry

Lonely is a house for two when no one's living there but you

Happiness turned inside out that's what lonely is

Happiness turned inside out that's what lonely is
