

Dottie West

"Once You Were Mine"

Visit "Once You Were Mine" on MotoLyrics.com

Bluer than all the skies above
Sadder than the weeping willow tree
That's the way I am without your love
I never thought you'd run away from me

Deeper than the oceans and the seas
Sweeter than berries on the vine
This was the love you took from me
It hurts me so to see that I was blind

Others I've known
I can't recall their names
Oh, but your love was different
It was more than just a game

Softer than velvet to my touch
Smoother than satin cloth so fine
And I love your mem'ry, oh, so much
And rejoice to think once you were mine
And rejoice to think once you were mine

Visit Dottie West page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.