"What Do You See"

You can go as far as any road
That you take how can you get anywhere
If you stand in your own way
Take it for what you can
You take for granted what you don't understand

What do you see?

And we find between these differences there's a very thin line
We see, what we were looking for was right in front of our eyes
You got to hold onto what you might lose learn what's not yet forgotten
When you know where you're from it's easier to find where you're going

It's your choice to carry on It's a part of who you are Sometimes we need to live a little more than we dream
Leave this world a better place of unity
In unity

What do you see?
