Sometimes I wish there were no windows in this room
The sun comes pouring through those curtains
Way too soon
Reminding me it's time to rise and shine
But you look so good lying there
In that old T-shirt of mine

Chorus:

There's not enough hours in the night
Not enough time to hold you tight
How time flies when you are in love
We lay down and the sun comes up
I wish that I could set that clock
To moonlight saving time
When it comes to loving you
There's not enough hours in the night

They say two people just can't live on love alone
But girl, if we die trying, what a way to go
I think I'll call in and say I'm running late
Hang a blanket on the window
And steal an hour from the day

(Chorus)

I wish that I could set that clock
To moonlight saving time
Cause when it comes down to loving you
There's not enough hours in the night
