Gunfighter, gunfighter dressed in black
Gunfighter, gunfighter your never coming back
Well there's a high price been put upon your head.
It won't be long, son and soon you'll be dead.

The new sherriff came to town one dusty afternoon.
You waited for him inside the old saloon
And when he turned around you shot him down
When the smoke cleared you were knowhere to be found

Well that's just one more notch on your deadly gun
You're an evil man and evil has it's fun.
But one time you'll go to far and you won't get away
They'll hang you for sure and knowone will cry that day.

One morning a lady's pretty face caught your eyes
You never saw it coming, she caught you by surprise
You drew your gun oh but it was too late
She cast her spell on you and sealed your fate.

Gunfighter, gunfighter dressed in black
Gunfighter, gunfighter your never coming back
Well there's a high price been put upon your head.
It won't be long, son and soon you'll be dead.
