Dare you lose a night sleep in thinking
Never should the thought invade your head
Lightly falls the ash from which you're smoking
Gently lay your body on the bed

Don't you stay up worried with the telly
Swallow any doubts of which you keep
Breathe away the day's reverberations
Echoing these sentiments, you sleep

Dream into a catalyst of comfort
Wallow in the pleasures of escape
Rested are the eyes of your resistance
Relishing the remedy till waking

Sing this lullaby, by, sing by
Sing this lullaby, by, lullaby
Sing this lullaby, by, lullaby, by
Sing this lullaby, by, lullaby, by
