What went through your head when you acted like I never knew
The way you poisoned us, I'll shove this in your face if you wake up
On the car ride home I wanted so badly to throw you out
The window was wide open, I guess I missed my only chance
This one is unforgivable
Don't let me have this chance to say what I feel
I'll bring you down with the blink of an eye
Just who exactly do you think you are to judge
Somehow you make the worst look good
It's quite clear that we're coming to a crossroads Another game of give and take
This time I'm right, the shit has hit the fan
This one is unforgivable
How dare you call yourself the friend that takes the bullet for me
Don't let me have this chance to say what I feel
I'll bring you down with the blink of an eye
Just who exactly do you think you are to judge
Somehow you make the worst look good
I'd cry more tears at a movie than at your death...
