I'm choking myself to sleep
Just trying to figure out the words
Of the puzzle you left up stairs
Along with all your underwear
Lost in a game of despair
Knowing that you don't care,
So what's the point of wasting my last breath on you
My only breath on you
And I don't have a clue what's going on now You're packing your bags and moving on Indecisiveness - it's the only trait I don't lack,
And you better not forget that along with command
and control
Of course that's what I can tell from you,
Of course that's what I perceive from you, it's true
I'm choking myself to sleep
Just trying to figure out the words
Of the puzzle you left up stairs
Along with all your underwear
Lost in a game of despair
Knowing that you don't care,
So what's the point of wasting my last breath on you
My only breath on you
And I don't have a clue what's going on now You're cashing your checks and moving on Indecisiveness - it's the only trait I don't lack,
And you better not forget that along with command
and control
Of course that's what I can tell from you,
Of course that's what I perceive from you, it's true
Roll the dice, make it count, that's what you told me so figure it out
So figure it out...
