Uh, yeah, c'mon, memories of time running thru my mind

So long goodbyeÂ...

Aha, can you hear me? C'mon

Many nights, I lay alone in my bed, looking back on the letter she wrote, I just read

I can't forget the moments and times I have of you, If you're save, Dear Lord, to my loneliness rules

Shall I pick up the phone and just dial'Or maybe shall I think it over, for a while?

The pain is so deep everytime when I sleep and I record it all when I weep

But now we stay distant from one another, new people in our lives that we claim as lovers

Touching her really don't quite feel the same, If you ever been in love once feelings never change

I hope one day she realises and see she could have it all if she'd stay with me

Some nights I wish I wouldn't break down and cry, but live must take its course

So long goodbyeÂ...

So long goodbye, I can't stay

I don't want to go away

So long goodbye, don't you cry

Cry

Can you understand that the way that I feel or life tearing us apart for real

I wish I could playback time, but she got her life and I got mine

Before I have to go and before I die, it's a struggle to live to keep my dreams alive

But one day I swear I'm gonna reach my goal and just to be on top, whitout selling my soul

And maybe then we can work this out, and maybe then we can talk it out

And maybe then you'll understand what I'm talking about

So long goodbye, I can't stay(Uh, yeah, c'mon, memories of time running thru my mind)

So long goodbye, don't you cry
(can you hear me?)
Cry

I can't stay, so I'll go, so I'll go

So long goodbye, I can't stay
I don't want to go away
So long goodbye, don't you cry
Cry

So long goodbye...

Check, check it, check it, check it out...check, check it, check it, check it out out...
