The Rain, was coming down over me
It felt so good to be free
I laughed with all the others who shared my point of view
Now, Reality's setting in
The Cover is wearing thin
The things that we hide from
Still have their ways of haunting us
Chorus
So Come With Me, We'll See Forever!
Reach for you now, To Dream Again!
Wait till you see what lies in store
I'd hate to be anything more
Yet I know that you'll hide from the truth
To find a way to comfort you.
The Air, swallowed to loosen your mind
Has tricked you to be blind
To all the others, who've felt this way before
And break, the ones you needed the most
Still loving you like a ghost
If only you'd listen
You would see how far you've strayed from your goals
Chorus
The Air is ending he's speaking to us through us
Slowly descending not letting all of this slip away..
I am contemplating existence
Wasting away by this moment
And letting it slip away..
Chorus
