

Downface "No Regrets"

Laying down in a bed he lived in Sinking into a dying state
Can't forget the time, the room, the place
Notice the hand as it slowly makes it's way
I Have no
No room for the dreams I've learned to hate
I Have no
He's old, he's leaving a lonely place
I Have no
I can still seem to hear him say
I Have no
I Have no Regrets
I Have No Regrets
Thinking as if it were illusion
The love I've learned to embrace
Telling me it is all over
The promise. My strength
I Have no
No room for the dreams I've learned to hate
I Have no
I'm old and leaving this lonely place
I Have no
If you listen forever you'll hear me say
I Have no
I Have no Regrets
I Have No Regrets
I know
I know the answer lies in my head
No one can ever take that from me
I'm lost
I've lost my head again
With the cross looming up before me
My lover's eyes below Me
Yet I have no regrets
