There's something in the air
Burning ions in the oxygen are all aglow
A Felling everywhere
Premonitions of the storm that comes
But I won't go

I'm done running towards
The eyes of tornadoes
Pretending this is hope

I breathe in the atmosphere
Let it wash over my fear
Of these hights as I transcend
And become whole again

I breathe in the atmosphere
Let it take me out of here
I won't live life in the rain
Waiting on the sky to change

Been frozen since that day
I saw my clear blue skies
As they turned to gray
In front Of Me

It's hard to find my way
Can I rise above
When giving up
Is all I know?

I'm done running towards
The eyes of tornadoes
Pretending this is hope

I breathe in the atmosphere
Let it wash over my fear
Of these hights as I transcend
And become whole again

I breathe in the atmosphere
Let it take me out of here
I won't live life in the rain

Waiting on the sky to change

And the water's rising
Going deaf from the sound of rain
And the water's rising
I won't drown in the flood you made

And the water's rising
Going deaf from the sound of rain
And the water's rising
I won't drown in the flood you made

I breathe in the atmosphere
Let it wash over my fear
Of these highs as I transcend
And become whole again

I breathe in the atmosphere

I breathe in the atmosphere
Of these highs as I transcend

I breathe in the atmosphere
Waiting on the sky to change

Waiting on the sky to change
Waiting on the sky to change
