You never listened when I talked your heart was far away Your mind was on somebody else not what I had to say

Can you hear me now sweetheart now all is said and done he broke your heart just like I knew
and now he's up and gone
He's left you there to cry alone
He's broken every vow
you never heard my words before but can you hear me now you never listened when i said your more than life itself was it his love that called to you or all his worldly wealth when it came time to leave this earth you kissed my fevered brow turned me into a memory love, can you hear me now
