Night - black crystal
Moon faded long ago
Someones sorrow has gushed tear
Someones face has gone

Many shadows have gone past
And it seems to me
That someones breath has left

Life is going by like a smoke
Leaving behind a stripe of recollection
And only tear will leave
In your grave

But I love the speel of recollection
Sad charm of the past
And I wonder in thoughts
Over the way forging from bronze

That night the wind went mad
That night the moon darkened
