Life is a misery, don't know how it's come to be,
Death, the epltone of all of our days
And in the past we had no choice, to hear or to be the voice Close your eyes and visualize the demon to arise

You know that sanity is not as it was meant to be,
And now that misery has taken a new stand
In the land of a thousand souls, we'll carry on through the rain
In the sun we will move along,
with the memories of the slain

When I see this humanity, and the evil that they've come to be We've come to the point of no return, and you beg for just....

One more time to escape from all this madness,
One more time to be set free from all this sadness,
And one last time to be the one who understands
My soul and my spirit will go on, for all of eternity

Foreign the currency, your payment in blood to be,
Death is the destiny for all of our ways
And in the dark you hide away, for who or what you can't say When I see the power of the demon come alive

You know that sanity is not as it was meant to be,
And now that misery has taken a new stand

On the wings of eagles flying, staring on to the sun Reaching for the gold horizon, when the war shall be won

Can you see this debauchery, and the blade of death that has come for thee In winds of torment forever more, you will cry for just....

One more time to escape from all this madness,
One more time to be set free from all this sadness,
And one last time to be the one who understands

Whou, oh....
Whou, oh....

In the land of a thousand souls,
we'll carry on through the rain
In the sun we will move along,
with the memories of the slain

When I see this humanity,
and the evil that they've come to be
We've come to the point of no return,
and you beg for just....

One more time to escape from all this madness,
One more time to be set free from all this sadness,
And one last time to be the one who understands My soul and my spirit will go on,
