"Say Goodbye"

How am I supposed to feel?
You strike at my achilles heel with everything that's wrong I can't make right.
If I wait another hundred years the whispers set against the tears I'm never gonna be that shining knight.
I find it hard to be down in this hole now I find myself
walking down a hard road.
If I can't say it - if I can't say goodbye.
If I can't say it - if I can't say goodbye I know you never will.
Now I'm waiting for that setting sun to burn me down
the day I'm done and spread my ashes out along the beach.
But I find these days are pretty long this war with you goes on and on and I love you as I'm lying through my teeth.
I find it hard to be up on this wall now I find myself
trying to make a hard call.
If I can't say it - if I can't say goodbye.
If I can't say it - if I can't say goodbye I know you never will and twenty years of hell will rain down upon us like frogs upon the pharaohs.
I have to say goodbye.
I have to say goodbye goodbye.
