I can't believe when you walk right in I can't believe that your temperature's minus I still need you to talk me down I can't believe that you'd suffer in silence is it all just a lie that we all still believe in? if you tell me your lie then I'll know your name cause I have no shame I have no sadness I feel no blame I stumble forward this ship goes down deep and I know no way of leaving you won't believe what you can't accept you can't accept what is right before you I still need you to hold me down you make a joke but it couldn't be more true is it all just a lie that no one believes in? if I tell you a lie will you say my name?

I'll find a way to live without you I know it cuts too close to the bone
how can you live without me if I won't go?
I'll find a way to live without you I know it cuts too close to the bone
find a way to live without me and I'll come home.
