The world sleeps tonight but
You're wide awake
Maybe you've found the answer
I've been looking for

Now I don't think it'll be the same
The dues are slowly being paid
So do you think
All the little things that went wrong
Were meant to be
On and on life keeps on reminding us
But we're so blinded by our greed

We can go on watching silently
Burning down the only home we know
Lock the door and close
Our eyes and dream
But the fire's slowly spreading on...
