"I don't know, I feel a lot of [Sample is Robert DeNiro from the ] distance and I feel far away. [film "The Deer Hunter". ]
I'll see you later..."

I have seen you born before me
I have watched you die
I have heard every word you said to me

Leave no question in your mind
There is no brighter star to guide you
Don't look past me to the sun, the sun is I
I am the sun...

So close the door behind him
He wanders slowly to the car
Trying to lift his heavy heart
He says...

"I feel bad about this. [Sample is Timothy Hutton from the]
I feel really bad about this. [film "Ordinary People". ]
Just, just let me feel bad about this."

I'm through just getting by Countless times a friend has told me
Watch out for the wave
Now it seems the sea will be my grave
And still you swim to save me
Even though the water is much colder now
Even though the water is much colder now

Sometimes you can act on intuition
Sometimes you can use a different point of view
I've found that in such a position
I could always come to you

(So) I've seen you weep
I have seen you tired and lonely (without you)
So when you are lonely and you are tired
I'll carry the cross with you
But it only takes one heart (one heart)
My heart's here to
To lift you up and send you on
Can you understand the life I've shown you Understand this is me, I'm giving you

I have seen you born before me
I have watched you die
I have heard every word you said to me

I have no question in my mind
There's been no brighter star to guide me
I don't look past you to the sun, so don't look past me to the sun,
The sun is...

And so love is broken
They're asking me how can you help
When you don't even know how that feels
I don't need one thousand reasons
When someone starts to cry
When someone says my heart needs lifting
Don't ask how come, ask how high

I have seen you born before me
I have watched you die
I have heard every word you said to me

Leave no question in your mind
There is no brighter star to guide you
Don't look past me to the sun, the sun is I

Leave no question in your mind
There is no brighter star to guide you
Don't look past me to the sun, (it knows where you are)
