If I had
A chance to recreate you
In any shape
And any size I wanted to
I wouldn't make
A single alteration
Save for one silly little
Brief accomodation

I want you now, I found you somehow
You got some attention I could do without
You're spread too thin
And I can't win
When you care so much

Cut your heart
Into two
Keep a part
For me and you
You're spread too thin
And I can't win
When you care so much

If I had
A chance to recreate you
In any shape
And any size I wanted to
I'd give you eyes
That only work on me
You don't need to see
Anybody anything or anyone

I want you now, I found you somehow
You got some attention I could do without
You're spread too thin
And I can't win
When you care so much

If I had
A chance to recreate you
In any shape
And any size I wanted to

I wouldn't make
A single alteration
Save for one silly little
Brief accomodation

Cut your heart
Into two
Keep a part
For me and you
You're spread too thin
And I can't win
When you care so much

I want you now, I found you somehow
You got some attention I could do without
You're spread too thin
And I can't win
When you care so much
