I have dreamt a thousand dreams
Where stars could fall, where fire froze and I could talk to trees.
And when I told you of them, you would say:
Too bad the world is not this way.

And yet the world is turning.
I have spent my life learning to think like this.
But now my skin is burning,
While you freeze. And I know
You make it what it is.

Wherever you go
There's so much more to know.
Whatever you say
There'll be another day.

I'll run as far as I can go
I'll run through fire, rain and snow.
Reborn to live a brand new life
I will be back before you know.

I've lived a life in waiting, wondering why
My lucky star is never seen through all the clouds in the sky.
But now I know the world is coloured by the watcher's eye.
I throw that life away.
My sky is blue today.

Wherever you go
There's so much more to know.
Whatever you do
There's always time for another you.

I'll run as far as I can go
I'll run through fire, rain and snow.
Reborn to live a brand new life
I will be back before you know.

Wherever you go

There's so much more to know.
Whatever you do
There is another chance for you.

I'll run as far as I can go
I'll run through fire, rain and snow.
Reborn to live a brand new life
I will be back before you know.

Run as far as I can go,
Through fire rain and snow.
Reborn to live a new life
I will be back.
I will be back.
