Sometimes we make it big, sometimes small I often find we're just caught with our backs against the wall

You follow me around, pushing your luck
When I finally turn around you're gone, and I'm stuck

Yeah it's all around you, even though you can't see,
and I tried my best to, give you what you needed
And though I'm glad I found you, I'm sad you lost me, sorry I say it so candidly but please just, let me be

So many days and nights, just filling space
When everything but me, seems to have it's own place
You tell me you want it all, and then some more
When I try to give it you're gone, walk out the door

Yeah it's all around you, even though you can't see,
and I tried my best to, give you what you needed
And though I'm glad I found you, I'm sad you lost me,
sorry I say it so candidly but please just, let me be

I gotta stop this train, it's running off it's tracks
I can't turn around no no I can't look back You're driving me insane, and you cut me no slack
Is it too much to ask, I just want my life back?

Yeah it's all around you even though you can't see, and I tried my best to, give you what you needed
And though I'm glad I found you, I'm sad you lost me, sorry I say it so candidly but please just Please ju-oh,
Please just, let me be
