We'll be mourning this morning
There is no need to complain
'Cause we've been ignoring this warning
There is no pleasure without this pain

We're drawn together by accident
We'll be forever with these words
And melodies, they'll guide us
Through this speck in time

We're trying to get the missed attempts
We are forever with these words
And memories, they'll guide us
Through this night

We're getting older, older, older

Another day, another rut
Along the highway's faults
We sat and watched him
The saddened watchman, he's all alone

We're drawn together by accident
We'll be forever with these words
And melodies, they'll guide us
Through this speck in time

We're trying to get the missed attempts
We are forever with these words
And memories, they'll guide us
Through this night

We're getting older, older, older
But it's not over, over

'Cause this all, all you'll ever get
Don't forget that, don't forget that
No, don't forget that

'Cause this all, all you'll ever get
Don't forget that
It's your one and only chance

Go this far on your own

We'll be mourning this morning
We'll be mourning this morning
'Cause we've been ignoring this warning
All along

We're getting older, older, older
